CLASSIC: The word alone implies excellence, timelessness, complexity, rareness and understated genius. A literary work does not become a classic because of one quality or theme. Rather, it is a perfect blend of characteristics that truly makes a book a masterpiece.

Bishop Fenwick is our story, our masterpiece. It not only possesses the character ization, setting, plot and theme that together create the beginnings of a classic, but it also has as its most recently celebrated author, the Senior Class of 1985. The Seniors and all those involved in the writing of Bishop Fenwick over the last twenty-five years have created that special something that makes a book a masterpiece and Fenwick a classic.

In the Fenwick tradition

Much like a classic wine, Bishop Fenwick gets better with age! The school began with one class of students in 1959 and has grown in size and stature over the last twenty-five years. Its foundation in Catholicism has remained steadfast. It has been recognized in the community for excellent academic programs as well as an outstanding record in sports and student activities.

On September 23, 1984 Archbishop Bernard Law celebrated a twenty-fifth anniversary mass that drew a large gathering of loyal alumni, faculty, students, parents, and friends. The sense of tradition shared by participants at the mass began in September, 1959 when Fenwick first opened its doors. Many parents chose to send their children here, and today many of those earliest students relive their Fenwick years through the experiences of a second generation of students, sons and daughters, who are now attending Fenwick.

What attracted those first students and what will continue this strong interest is the commitment of Bishop Fenwick to help each student "develop skills which will allow him/her to live a full and productive life in society as well as in the Church."

Opposite: Our spiritual leader, Archbishop Bernard Law, smiles at the crowd. Clockwise: Principal Ralph LeDuc addresses the people in the stands. — Archbishop Law celebrates mass while Father Helmick, Matt Faina and David Champigny look on. — Archbishop Law accepts a gift of a Bishop Fenwick sweatshirt. — Mr. Patch, the band and the chorus listen as the Archbishop speaks.

We are many . . .

The Fenwick network may span thirty-one cities and towns, but it has its home in Peabody, Ma. We arrive at this special place by bus, car, foot or bicycle. We come late, at the bell or early for coffee and donuts. Whatever the means of transportation, we all eventually come together to study and to pray.

Because we come from different communities, we bring with us diverse styles and personalities. We dress in fashions that cover a wide range from the layered look to the classic preppy, yet we cannot be stereotyped. We are stimulating, interesting people who have a high level of tolerance for those who stray from the norm — that includes everyone.

With such a diverse student body, it is not surprising that we have a character all our own: One that cannot be copied nor surpassed. We are classic.

Opposite: Kelly Bergeran, Jennifer Letendre, Potrice Ryon and Kevin Lech know the importance of sticking together. — Jessica DeLuco, Caraline Weglorz, Kothie Woods, Stephonie Constantine, Ann Cannell and Libby Russell pose on a spring day. Clockwise: Claire Doyle, Laurie Demit and Sonjo Broakins enjoy a moment together. — Michael Porisi will learn how to type sometime, but not today. — Cindy Flynn takes a break from studying. — Beth Fairbanks and Kelly Dolon know the value of old friendships. — Chris Haulihan and Anne Cimon are friends forever. — Liz Ciompa, Lisa Santomorio, Renee Chute and Chris Cook display how high fashion hits Fenwick. — Koren Kelly and Jeon Robertson frolic in the leaves.

We are one

The meaning of the "Fenwick Experience" comes alive every year during the Freshmen-Senior Buddy Day in October. This year's Buddy Day was no different. We met that day for only the second time, yet we behaved as if we were old friends. From the start we became the "Fenwick Family." Together we formed a "BF" on the football field symbolizing our unity and love for each other and for our school. Then we celebrated mass together. The specialness and oneness of our faith and of our friendship was evident during the Sign of Peace which was expressed in the Fenwick tradition: with bear hugs. After the mass, it was on to games and lunch. The winners of the games were not rewarded with prizes but rather with a spirit that comes from working together for a common goal.

What we have here at Fenwick between the four classes is rare. The hugs we shared at the Buddy Mass are repeated at numerous masses held during the school year. The friendships formed on these special days set aside for "the family" truly make us one.

We are strong in mind

When it comes down to it, academics are the reason that we attend Bishop Fenwick. However, it isn't just course content that we will carry away with us, but also the memory of teachers who are more than sources of information — they are friends who care.

Many of us will remember turning Room 322 into an Asian teahouse, and who but Sister Joseph Leo could convince seniors that calculus can be fun? When it comes to research, we have all witnessed the miracles that Brother Fred can perform. Our teachers also go that extra mile by planning field trips that reinforce what we have learned in the classroom. We have enjoyed Shakespeare at the theater, studied government firsthand in Washington, D.C., practiced our French verbs in Paris and even ordered helado at Treadwell's.

While we may never need  $E = mc^2$  or the conjugation of etre, we will hold fast in our hearts the memory of teachers who not only educated our minds but also our souls.

Catch that Fenwick Spirit

When a heart, soul, body and mind unite, the product is spirit. When the hearts, souls, bodies and minds of Fenwick students unite, the spirit takes on an awesome, classical quality. It becomes the Fenwick Spirit.

The Fenwick Spirit moves mountains. On a crisp, September morning in 1984 the senior class did just that. Together we conquered the majestic Mount Lafayette. But throughout our years at Fenwick we climbed many other mountains. The Spirit that got us through the rocky and twisted trails of Fenwick is more powerful than any of us ever imagined. It is only now, as we, the Senior Class of 1985, leave Fenwick to journey through the mountains and valleys of Life that we truly realize the magnitude of the Fenwick Spirit.

We do know, however, that spirit is more than just climbing a mountain or showing up for a game. The Fenwick Spirit is distinguishable from others because it is during an ordinary day that it shines brightest. Whether it be tutoring an underclassman for National Honor Society, feeding a hungry child through the Thanksgiving Food Drive, or climbing to the peak of a mountain with Father Peter early on a Friday morning, Fenwick students show their spirit. Sometimes during these times we laughed, we cried, or we hollered. But always we cared, for each other, and for ourselves. And long after the Class of 1985 has left the Fenwick Community, our spirit will survive. For just as others gave their spirit to us, we have given a part of ourselves for future generations to experience, and to love.

Our spirits soar

Community . . . A sense of sharing

As students in a school that is steeped in Christian values, we feel a need to share with others the special gifts we have found here. We do this in many ways.

Each year many of us serve as tour guides at the Open House, visit local schools to tell eighth graders of the many advantages of going to Fenwick, inform students on the dangers of drunk driving and spread our sense of spirit by supporting the many charitable fund-raisers sponsored by Fenwick students.

Outside of school, it is common for members of the Fenwick community to volunteer their services at My Brother's Table, to participate in a peace rally or the Walk for Hunger, to sponsor a Christmas party for orphans at St. Charles Home for Children, to spend a week in rural Maine helping the poor or to "adopt" a child at Christmas. Each of these allows us to give back some of the love and support that the surrounding community has given to us over the past twenty-five years.

One of the largest programs that allows us to share is the annual Thanksgiving Food Drive that supplies food for patrons of Warwick House in Roxbury. Our contributions feed the hungry not only at Thanksgiving and Christmas but throughout the year. Only by our continued service to the larger community will we be able to understand the Good News of Jesus Christ.

Seniors

The annual powder puff game against St. Mary's is just one of the many moments that the senior class shared with each other this year before saying goodbye at graduation.

Senior class officers Lisa Maare, Laurie Demit, James Dennis, Karen Kelly, Mary Graw, and Mathew Faina practice for what will culminate their high school career on May 24, 1985.

There are many adults who have said ours is the generation of pessimism and apathy, but I don't believe it . . . I challenge all of us to dream of a brighter future. I challenge our generation to fight for a future of peace and opportunity, of justice and liberty.

In a class of their own

Part of what makes Fenwick a classic is its ideal blend of the united school family and spirit with the expertise of the individual. Each of the following students is a perfect example of personal achievement in either academics, sports, the arts, community work, or a combination of any of the above. In his or her own way each has added a special, unique quality or talent to the Fenwick community. These select few students are not the only talented people found at Fenwick. Rather, they represent a cross-section of the talented students in our senior class. We congratulate them on their achievement and hope that they can continue to be successful throughout college and the rest of their lives.

Sonja Brookins

Carolyn Ryder

Carolyn Ryder sometimes wonders if she spends more time in the pool than anywhere else. As a member of the Bernal Gators Swim Club, she practices two hours a day, five days a week, and she competes on weekends. She began swimming competitively when she was eleven, and she has achieved innumerable awards and honors. She is captain of Fenwick's swim team, and she is both a Boston Globe and a Boston Herald Traveler All-Star. This year she has been named New England Outstanding Swimmer. Nationally, she has been named three times a Junior Olympian and a competitor at the prestigious National Swimming Championships in Fort Lauderdale. This year she placed eighth nationwide in her event. To top things off, she is a YMCA All-Star swimmer and a 1984 finalist at the YMCA Nationals in the 100 and 200 yard breaststroke, her best event. Perhaps in 1988 she'll swim away with an Olympic Gold!!

Daniel Killoran

Daniel Killoran, a National Merit Commended Scholar and recipient of the Bishop Fenwick Science Award, has been an honor roll student throughout his high school career. He has excelled in both math and the sciences, and, in fact, he attended Rose-Hulman Institute in Indiana this past summer. As a result of his interest in the sciences, he hopes to major in either mathematics or computer science. Academics are not his main interest, however. Dan is also an excellent marksman. Since 1983 he has won three major awards in his sport, riflery. In '83 he won the High Marksman Massachusetts Service Rifle Championships. In 1984 he was awarded a distinguished shooting medal and in 1985 he won the Mass. Smallbore High Resident Award. Dan has certainly made the most of his talents both in the classroom and on the rifle range. One might say he is right on target.

Christopher McCarthy

In everything he does, Chris gives his best effort. He has achieved honor roll status since his freshman year, works at the Middleton Golf Course and has been a member of the varsity hockey team. However, Chris's achievements are not just in the classroom or on the ice. His special talent lies on the rolling greens of a golf course. Chris has received numerous honors in golf, from being captain of the Fenwick team and Most Valuable Player to being a Salem Evening News All-Star for three consecutive years. He was also named the Catholic League Most Valuable Player and received the CYO All-Star Award. Golf has given Chris the opportunity to travel to Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Bermuda and Spain, not to mention most of New England. Chris plans to continue golfing although probably not professionally.

Julie Boris

An acclaimed pianist, Julie Boris has earned a reputation for her musical talent both inside and outside the Fenwick community. She was one of the first students to support the music program at Fenwick and is now one of its many participants. Her musical talent has been heard in the school auditorium on many occasions during the last four years. Julie's ability was recognized long ago in the music world. She won her first award in the National Playing Auditions in 1974 and continued to win awards for the next six years in this competition. In 1984 she was named as an alternate for a summer session at Tanglewood Institute, and she has accompanied many children's theatrical productions. Recently Julie received two scholarships: one from the Salem Arts Lottery Council and the other from the prestigious Boston University School of Music where Julie will study this fall.

Jean Robertson

Jean Robertson strides ahead of her peers. Whether it be on the track or in the classroom, Jean has always moved at an accelerated pace. Her number one ranking academically and her ability in running resulted in her nomination as Bishop Fenwick's female scholar athlete. Jean began her running career at the age of three, and she has received national recognition for her talent. These honors include features in various publications including The Complete Woman Runner and Runner's World Magazine. Locally she has been on the All-Star cross country teams of various North Shore newspapers such as the Salem News, Peabody Times and the Daily Evening Item. In addition to being a scholar and star athlete, Jean finds time to give something of herself to the community. One of her most meaningful activities is teaching CCD at her local parish. Although she has no definite career plans, Jean will attend Dartmouth College.

Anne Marie Rogers

Anne Marie Rogers has devoted most of her life to giving — her time, her talents and her energy. Fenwick knows her as the 1983-84 Student Council Secretary, and the present co-chairperson of the Religious Committee. However, Anne's giving extends beyond the Fenwick community. Anne has taught CCD classes since 1982, has served as president of her parish CYO and has worked as a candystriper at Lynn and Union Hospitals. If this isn't enough to keep her busy, Anne works as Chaplain Assistant at Union Hospital, participates actively in the Lynnfield Ecumenical Group, is a member of the Peer Education Group at Fenwick and finally, Anne works part-time at both the Lynnfield Village Pharmacy and the Rectory of Our Lady of the Assumption. Not surprisingly, she has received the Bishop Fenwick Christian Award for the past two years. In college Anne plans to pursue sociology and religious studies and hopes some day to work in the field of religious education and/or parish ministry.

Caroline Weglarz

"I want to continue dancing as long as I can. I want it to be part of my life always." When Caroline Weglarz speaks of her dancing, her eyes sparkle with excitement. Caroline began dancing when she was six years old, and she has taken classes in ballet, tap and jazz. She dances mostly at Dance Central in Lynn, but she has also performed in the Christmas Show at Fenwick, the Marblehead Arts Festival, and at Lynn City Hall for the Lynn Arts Festival. In addition to dancing two hours a day, five days a week, Caroline also teaches an aerobics class twice a week. Her talent has benefited Fenwick in another way since Caroline was co-captain of the football cheerleaders, and she often planned dance routines that added interest and zest to their performances. Because Caroline is serious about her dancing, she has applied to colleges that encourage dance, such as Mount Holyoke, Skidmore, Bard and Smith.

Underclassmen

These underclassmen show school spirit while proving that a diverse but close-knit student body is what makes Fenwick special.

If I could my friend but give you one thing, it would be the ability to see you as others do so that then you would realize what a truly special person you are.

Barbara Billings
(quote by Lesley Hawes, Junior Class
President, at SAC installation)

Chiara Palazzola, like most underclassmen, takes time to ponder what lies ahead in her future at Bishop Fenwick.

Faculty

Mrs. Ernestine Perrin's after school chemistry lab is an example of how a dedicated faculty help Fenwick students reach their potential.

Katia Hale expresses the appreciation of the entire student body and faculty to Principal Rolph LeDuc for his efforts that have made Fenwick one of the outstanding Catholic schools in the Archdiocese of Boston.

I suggest to you that there has been one person who is responsible for changing the dynamics from a sense of collapse to a sense of vision, from a sense of no hope to a high school that is thriving and one that is more than just a school, but a community, a family.

Thank you, Mr. LeDuc, for believing in Fenwick, for being part of its special history and guiding it toward a strong, exciting future.

A matter of pride

Talk about ending it with a bang! Though frustrated from the start by injuries and bad luck, the 1984-5 football team, under the leadership of co-captains Ed Mulry and Jay Weaver, did a turn-around, ending the season with three shut-out victories.

The Thanksgiving Day game against St. Mary's of Lynn was the biggest win of the three. Calling the plays during that game were quarterbacks Peter Bouchard and Frank Doda. Seniors Dave Contardo, Mark Earl and Chris Kealey each scored a touchdown during the St. Mary's game while John Donnelly kicked the extra point for the 19-0 victory.

While there were many emotional highs and lows during the season, Coach Harrington could always count on aggressive blocking from Mark Earl, Dave Contardo and Jeff Nowlan and steady, solid play from Jeff Evaul and Mike Quinlan.

Without a doubt the 1984-5 season was a comeback season. At its close the team had a right to be proud, and the fans had something to shout about.

Under the strong leadership of Coach Ellen McGrail, the 1984-5 varsity field hockey team ended the regular season with a record of 11-1-3.

While all team members played well, giving outstanding performances were forwards: Sue Gordee, Gail Connolly and Anne Ciman. Assisting the forwards with solid play were Mara Derosier, Rebecca Keene and Pamela Cronin. Defensively Fenwick was bolstered by the aggressive play of Beth MacGillivray and Page Pickering and the quick reflexes of goalies, Nancy Fox and Lisa LaFortune.

The excellent record of the team placed them in the number one position — the top of their class — in the greater Boston League when they entered the Division I State Tournament. The Fenwick stick-handlers beat their first opponent Chelmsford. Unfortunately their winning streak came to an end when they were defeated in the next round by Wakefield.

An exciting team, they deserve to be congratulated for their classy showing in both the regular season and in the State Tournament.

They hit the road

The sign in Room 221 reads, "Fenwick track is making it." Not only is track alive and well at Fenwick, but it has also maintained a tradition of excellence over the years. This year's cross country teams under the coaching of Ms. Cathy Cornes have continued the tradition.

The boys' cross country team even though it lacked the depth of the girls' team was competitive in a very strong Catholic Central League ending the season with a 4-4 record. The highlight of the season was the State Trial Meet where each runner had the satisfaction of setting a personal best time. Steven Fendrich who improved his time by 50 seconds in this meet was later named MVP. Chris Harrison received the Coach's Award and Eric Buckley was named Most Improved. All three young men besides being major contributors to the team, shared the responsibility of leadership as tri-captains. The boys' team is also fortunate in having a few returning veterans — juniors Kevin Freeman and Philip Ernst and sophomores John Derosier and Anthony Juliano.

Clockwise: Tri-coptains Steven Fendrich, Eric Buckley and Christopher Harrison led the boy's cross country team to a successful season with the help of Coach Cathy Cornes. — Matthew Pinordi knows that having fans cheer you an really helps. — Anthony Juliano shows off his stride to Christine Murray and Maureen Appleyard as he roces toward the finish line.

The girls' varsity team with a record of 5-2 were only two points shy of an unbeaten season. Led by tri-captains Eileen Walsh, Karen Kelly and Jean Robertson, the girls made an impressive showing in the Catholic Memorial Invitational finishing 5th out of 25 teams. In the Northern Area Meet, they placed 6th out of 22 teams.

Although the seniors will be hard to replace, several underclassmen are setting a fast pace. They include — junior Maureen Appleyard and sophomores Christine Murray, Karen Ieradi and freshmen Kathleen Jenkins and Rebecca Hale. Rewarded for their individual achievements during the year were: Kathleen Jenkins — Most Improved, Eileen Walsh — Coach's Award, and Jean Robertson — MVP. Jean also received a Greater Boston League All Star Award and was 9th in the Catholic Memorial Invitational and 25th in the State Trials.

Fenwick's lack of track facilities has certainly not prevented the teams from giving their best. They are willing and eager to work hard for results. Without a doubt, "Fenwick track is making it!"

Clockwise: The end of the race is in sight as Jennifer Smart is cheered on by her teammates. — As they near the finish line, Christine Dawney and Maura Sheehan show the determination that is characteristic of Fenwick track teams. — The bright smiles of Coach Ms. Cathy Carnes and Captains Eileen Walsh and Jean Robertson reflect the spirit of a winning team. — With her outstanding individual performance, Jean Robertson sets a fast pace for her team.

Let's hear it for the volley girls

Volleyball is the "in" game — for sure. The interest in the game was sparked by the outstanding U.S.A. volleyball team at this year's summer Olympics. No one was more inspired by the performance of the U.S.A. team than our own girls' volleyball team who started their own crusade for excellence. The senior players, Lisa Juliano, Laurie Bencal, Lynne Bencal, Michelle Antoniades and Laura Metivier were determined to make it to the State competition, and that they did. They began their season successfully with two wins against St. Mary's of Lynn and St. Gregory's of Dorchester. An early loss to Matignon only increased the team's spirit, and the team went on to seven straight victories.

The positive attitude of the players and the leadership of Coach Juliano were key to the success of the team. Mr. Juliano channeled the talent of the players, and he taught the team the meaning of commitment. As Laurie Bencal commented, "He gave so much to us that we felt we had to give our best effort." The seniors also played an important role in leading the team to victory. Co-captains Lisa Juliano and Laurie Bencal were both selected Catholic Central League All Stars. Lisa Juliano was also chosen as a Salem News All Star. The team's overall 12-4 record also reflects the experience and diligence of Lynne Bencal, Michelle Antoniades, and Laura Metivier.

The high point of the season was the state competition. By qualifying for the states, the team realized their drive for athletic perfection. In the preliminary round of the State tournament, they defeated Newton Catholic, the Catholic Suburban League Champion, 2-0. Fenwick then faced three powerhouses — Lowell, Stoneham and Boston Latin. After losing to Stoneham and Latin, Fenwick came back to defeat Lowell. Although they were eliminated from the tournament, the 1984 girls' volleyball team finished the season with the best record and tourney showing in the history of Fenwick volleyball. Let's hear it for the volley girls! — For Sure.

The new kids on the block

Welcoming all those willing to give it a try, the girls' and boys' soccer teams entered their first year of competitive play on the junior varsity level in 1984. The girls' team finished its season with a 6-8-1 record under the leadership of Coaches Mrs. Kathleen Byrne and Mrs. Marlene McKinnon and seniors Eileen Doane and Christine Garrity. After a slow start, the girls by mid-season showed a dramatically improved playing style and tied Marblehead's junior varsity team, one of the better teams in the league, 5-5. They had lost two previous games to Marblehead 4-0 and 4-3. "One more game and we could have beaten them," said a confident Coach Byrne. Other highlights included beating St. Mary's of Lynn twice, 7-0 and 8-0. The girls also had a better idea of where they stood in the league when they beat Notre Dame of Hingham and tied Lynnfield since both teams qualified for the States.

Eileen Doane, the team captain and goalie had an outstanding season, claiming thirty-six saves during a game against Pingree and making the Peabody and Beverly Times All-Star Teams. Sophomores Jennifer Erb and Laurie McKinnon provided the backbone for the defense.

Clockwise: Coaches Mrs. Kathleen Byrne and Mrs. Morlene McKinnon are obviously pleased with the new game plan that they are shawing to Captain Eileen Doone. — Missy Sheriff's expert faatwark helps her to moneuver through the tangle of feet. — With a stunning poss, Kirsten Widronok shows the style that mode her one of the team's top scorers. — Elise Sinogro successfully holds off the apposition.

Girls' Soccer Team: Row 1: Roxonne Byrne, Lourie McKinnon, Christine Gorrity, Amy Previte, Eileen Doone, Liz Sullivan, Kothy Haviland, Janlyn Driscoll, Colleen McDougall, Elise Sinogro. Row 2: Coach Mrs. Kathleen Byrne, Jennifer Erb, Iristen Widronok, Jennifer Connell, Missy Sheriff, Liso Welch, Morio Koukouroris, Kristie Bernord, Amy Feenon, Debbie Rich, Allison Wymon, Coach Mrs. Morlene McKinnon.

Also making its rookie debut, the boys' junior varsity soccer team compiled an impressive first record of 8 wins and 9 losses. The key to this team's success was an enthusiastic willingness to learn the game. Under the leadership of a demanding head coach, Mr. Michael Budaj and assistant coach Mr. David Sward, this young team concluded their season with six shutouts. Coach Budaj felt that the cohesiveness of the team played a big part in their wins over well-established teams from B.C. High, Austin Prep, Malden Catholic and Catholic Memorial.

Despite the team's newness, it already contained several outstanding athletes who could always be counted on to give 100%. The talented Randy Norwood became leading scorer and receiver of the MVP award. The leaders on the offense included Sean Hallinan, Glenn Anderson and Dennis Cormier while John Billings, Tris Fletcher and Mike Dewan controlled the team's defense. Seniors Peter Papegalis and Peter Masters received the Coach's award.

The girls' and boys' soccer teams were given a unique opportunity this fall: the chance to be forerunners in a new Fenwick sport. They proved their mettle in this first attempt and have started another winning Fenwick tradition.

Christine Garrity

This year for the first time Bishop Fenwick had a swim team and judging from the record, they made a big splash. Led by team captains Carolyn Ryder and Kathy Pigott, the girls finished the season with a 2-1-1 record. Kristen Woods, Marci Earl, Carolyn Ryder and Kathy Pigott qualified for the Northern Area sectionals and State meets. In both meets they finished sixth in the overall standings. Carolyn Ryder, an outstanding competitor, captured first in every event she swam during dual competition. She also came in first in sectionals for the 100 yard breaststroke.

The spirit and dedication of this team was evident in the early morning practices that took place every other day before school. However, as senior Claire Doyle explained, "We endured these practices so that we could proudly represent our school at the meets." And these girls most assuredly did.

Thanks to them, swimming is now firmly established as a sport at Bishop Fenwick. The girls' swim team proved that they are real competitors by finishing the season with an excellent team showing that was highlighted by a number of outstanding individual performances.

In only the second year of its existence, the Bishop Fenwick Downhill Ski Team has shown that they are hot, even on the cold slopes. Coached by Keith Therrien and led by captains Kirsten Therrien and Christina Facella, the girls' team ended the season with a 6-4 record. Captains Pete Papagalis and Tim Murnane led the boys' team to a 2-2 record.

Both teams competed in the Northshore Ski League. The girls scored wins against North Andover, Masconomet, Methuen, and Haverhill while the boys twice chalked up wins against Methuen. The courses that were used during the regular season were Giant Slalom or 30 second courses with a double gate.

The girls qualified for the States where Kirsten Therrien, Anne Sullivan, Colleen McDougall, and Sue Cotter represented the team. Andover and Masco were their state rivals. In the States, single-gate or one minute and 20 second courses were used. Team leaders for both the boys and the girls were Kirsten Therrien, Chris Sirois, Christina Facella, Pete Papagalis, Tim Murnane, and Anne Sullivan.

The 84-85 ski team has definitely proved that Fenwick is a team to be reckoned with. They have plowed a smooth path for future successful Fenwick ski teams.

In a zone of their own

Coach Bob Tierney didn't have to visit an amusement park to have his share of ups and downs this season. The roller coaster ride that his team took him on was enough to last him for awhile. Although the effort and talent were there, Fenwick was up against some tough teams like Xaverian and Columbus. Coach Tierney felt that, "The kids worked hard, and in the end, that's what is most important." The icemen finished with a record of 7-13 which is an improvement over last year. Tierney had nothing but praise for his players, calling Mike Welcome "very talented," Rob McNeil and Russ Steeves both "versatile and steady," and Don Charette "had a good scoring year." Seniors Chris McCarthy and Neil Overberg provided strong backup. Although the season had its peaks and valleys, Coach Tierney is optimistic about the future. "With a little luck perhaps next year will be the year of many ups and very few downs."

Riding high on an impressive record of 15-5, the Lady Crusaders are looking forward to the State Championship playoffs. To qualify for the States, the girls had to defeat some formidable opponents in the tough Division One North Catholic Conference, including defending league champion Cathedral. This win gave them the confidence to take on Arlington Catholic whom they defeated 66-35.

This year's team is a strong one. Eileen Doane is the sixth top scorer in Fenwick's history with 527 career points. She also led the team in scoring, averaging 13.5 points per game while Pam Cronin, Sue Gordee and Kerrie Giaramita all averaged 8 points a game. Star seniors on the team included tri-captains Doane, Cronin, Gordee, and Mary Graw and Lisa Juliano.

Coach Jim Palin was pleased with the attitude of the team and their success. He felt that it was the result of team effort and their willingness to work harmoniously. Their aggressiveness and strong defense were also key to their excellent record. The Lady Crusaders are destined to go places — just how far only time will tell.

A year of transition

When a highly successful basketball program loses seven key players to graduation and then acquires a new coach, they must in the words of Coach Mr. Patrick Veilleux, "Play more intelligently than the other teams to make up the difference."

Despite a disappointing season, the fans had a chance to see some outstanding individual performances in tough games. "To use an old cliché, — many times the score did not indicate how well the team played." Against the powerhouse Matignon, Jim Wersackas poured in 30 points and sophomore Rob Peachey added 23. Throughout the season, Captains Matt Almeida and Jim Wersackas were an inspiration to the young team. Other key players included Dave Champigny and sophomores Rob Peachey and Jim DePrizito.

All it takes is all you got . . . plus a little

The 1984-85 indoor track teams made great strides this year under the direction of Coach John Farley and assistants Mr. Michael Budaj and Mr. John McNiff. Both the girls' and the boys' teams had players who qualified for the All-State Championship Meet held at MIT. The girls had a Dual County League record of 4-3, and the team, led by high scorers Kelly Byrne, Jennifer Smart and senior Eileen Walsh finished fifth in the League meet. At the all-important Northern Area Meet, Jennifer Smart, Kathleen Jenkins, Gail Connolly and Jean Robertson finished first in the 2 mile relay. At the State Meet Shannon Fletcher placed sixth in the 300, which earned her a place at the All-State Championship Meet. Shannon also holds the school record in the 40 yard dash (5.3) and the 50 yard dash (6.3).

The boys squad also had an impressive season, finishing third in the Greater Lynn League Meet and ending the season with a 3-3 record. The leading scorers on the team were seniors Eric Buckley, Chris Harrison, and Randy Norwood. Harrison is a League All Star in the 2 mile, and Randy Norwood placed fifth in the 600 at the Northern Area Meet. Also, the team of Rob Medros, Frank Doda, Eric Buckley and Randy Norwood finished in fifth place in the mile relay. This qualified them for the All-State Meet.

It is evident from their performance that the Bishop Fenwick Indoor Track Team is not just a collection of individuals working toward personal best times, but it is a squad who strive to be a cut above the rest. And in order to do that, they know that it takes all you've got and then some.

A cheerleader is a real leader

The Bishop Fenwick cheerleaders are not typical cheerleaders. Their activities include more than just standing on the sidelines performing routines. Rather, Fenwick cheerleaders provide a support system — both on and off the court or field — that unites Fenwick and epitomizes our spirit. The night before a big game, cheerleaders can be found at Fenwick decorating lockers and the corridors with banners, balloons and posters. Their enthusiasm is hard to miss. This is why they are cheerleaders.

Aside from adding spirit to games, the cheerleaders spend much time preparing and choreographing intricate routines set to popular music tunes to be performed at the pep rallies. Their spirit is much appreciated by the players, and this is evident when the varsity team members give the girls flowers to thank them for their hard work and dedication.

In the tradition of excellence

On December 2, 1984 Bishop Fenwick honored its outstanding athletes by presenting awards and trophies to each fall team's Most Valuable Players and Most Improved Players. In addition, Bishop Fenwick was honored for the third year in a row by the Boston Globe, which presented Fenwick with the coveted Nason Award.

The prestigious Nason Award is a reflection of the entire Bishop Fenwick sports program, not just one or two outstanding varsity sports. Without the especially talented and dedicated athletes that were honored at the Sports Night, this award would not have been a reality.

Extra Curriculars

Operation Charlie is just one of the many activities sponsored by the Student Council; however, in the eyes of Mr. Robert Sousa, Kristina Cicorio and many others, it is an extension of the sense of community that is a part of Bishop Fenwick.

Fenwick offers us so many different outlets in which to develop our separate personalities . . . . Are sports your interest? Bishop Fenwick has one of the most fully developed athletic programs in the area. Are you artistically inclined? Fenwick offers you a wide range of music and art courses, a cultural committee, a school musical, and more. Do you aspire to leadership? Today we come together to install our student council, the leaders of our student body. And for those who wish to become part of the Fenwick Christian Spirit, there is the religion committee.

Lesley Hawes, Junior Class President.
(Speech at SAC Installation — 1984-85)

Reno Geomelos, Christine Himoris, Laura Mohoney, Peggy Johns, Eileen Doone, Mrs. Potrice Soucy-Moihos, and Sr. Cotherine Fleming truly enjoyed themselves at the annual Masquerade Dance sponsored by the Social Committee. Such events as this often bring teachers and students alike together to laugh and to share. The close-knit Fenwick Family thrives on this feeling of unity and community.

A night on the town

The Social Committee, under the leadership of seniors Beth St. Pierre and Katy Warde and junior Michelle Capano, brought Fenwick students together to share several evenings filled with good music and fine friends. The Committee sponsored three theme dances throughout the year. The social scene was kicked off by a 50's soc hop, where poodle skirts, and pony tails, t-shirts and slicked back hair were the fashions. Some of the faculty chaperones felt quite at home in this nostalgic atmosphere.

By far the most celebrated dance sponsored by the Committee was the Christmas Cotillion. Girls in taffata dresses and boys dressed in formal suits moved to the popular tunes chosen by disc jockey Chris Culkeen, class of '84.

Students serving students

Peer Education, a volunteer group that works toward improving the environment of Bishop Fenwick, is a vital part of our school community. Mr. John Jaworski, the advisor, explains Peer Ed. as "a forum to discuss important issues that affect teenagers." One of the main issues currently under discussion is drinking and driving. The group isn't into rules or policy. They simply get their message across by posters, and by giving talks to junior high school students and to our own freshmen in their religion classes.

Although the group primarily consists of sophomores, juniors and seniors, freshmen are encouraged to join. The Peer Ed. group meets on a weekly basis and has been in existence at Fenwick for four years. Future topics of discussion include teenage suicide and problems resulting from divorce and driving in general. Thanks to Peer Ed., students at Fenwick can count on someone to listen to them without preaching or judging. An open ear is all they offer.

The halls were alive

The sounds and sights of Spirit Week '84 were very different from those of other years. Organized by the Athletic Committee under the direction of Christine Himaris, Doreen DeTour and Lynne Anne Evans, Spirit Week had a new twist. This year's events included a Hat Day, which raised money for charity; a Fenwick T-Shirt and Sunglasses Day, and, of course, Brown and Gold Day, which featured the annual all-sports pep rally. This year skits were performed by members of each of the four classes, and a trophy was awarded to the senior class for their winning skit, "Spartanbusters." The focal point of the rally was the tribute paid to each of the teams that participated in fall sports. Also recognized were members of the senior class who were in their final season of Bishop Fenwick athletics.

The Fenwick community reaching above and beyond

This year the Religious Committee set out to share a part of the Fenwick community with "outsiders." Under the direction of chairpersons Donna Savarese and Anne Rogers and advisor Mr. James Morris, they organized a number of special events. The Thanksgiving Food Drive started the year off. It benefitted Warwick House in Roxbury, Catholic Charities, My Brothers' Table in Lynn, and Crombie St. Church. Both canned and boxed food was donated as well as turkeys. A trip to a Boston Peace Rally also among the fall activities was led by Sr. Catherine Fleming. The annual "Adopt a Child" program at Christmastime, coordinated by Mrs. Theresa Larrabee and Sr. Catherine Fleming, allowed students, homerooms, and sports teams to adopt a needy child and provide him/her with an extra gift under the Christmas tree.

The committee can be praised for their success in all of these activities as well as masses and services this year. The Fenwick community should also be thanked for their support.

There's no place like H.O.M.E.

During the February vacation thirteen students from Bishop Fenwick, together with a group from St. John's Prep, accompanied Mrs. Kathleen Murdock to Orland, Maine, to perform volunteer work for a group called HOME, or Homework Organized for More Employment. While in Maine, the students went to Hospitality House, a refuge for battered women and children and unwed mothers, where they painted, built walls and finished panelling. Another group cleared land for the farmers, while a third group burned brush to provide extra building space. A fourth group cut dozens of cords of wood which was distributed throughout the town to those, such as the elderly, who could not get wood for themselves.

Without a doubt, all the volunteers for HOME returned to their own homes richer from this experience.

Stand up and take a bow

Working on the yearbook is more than a full-time job. It's a fast-paced, often mesmerizing career! Not only did the yearbook advisors, editors and staff spend countless hours after school in the yearbook office, but we also spent many free periods, nights and weekends writing, designing, photographing and editing. The conception of A Classic was a slow process that began last spring when editors were chosen to head the various departments. Soon, however, our roles fused and we shared not only responsibilities but also fond memories, private jokes and late night pizzas just hours before deadline.

The editors would like to thank the entire staff not only for their support, dedication and hard work, but also for putting up with seemingly unreasonable demands over the eight months we were in production. We would also like to thank our advisors, Mrs. Marie Wall and Mrs. Judith Juffre, and two special seniors, Chris Garrity and Claire Doyle; Muchas gracias! Merci beaucoup! THANKS! And to all those teachers and coaches who identified and re-identified team and homeroom pictures, and whose classes were interrupted, we appreciate your patience and effort. And to all those who shared in both the trying and the good times of A Classic, we thank you for the memories.

Sonja Brookins — Production

This yearbook has had its share of good times and bad, but through it all we made it. I hope that I remember this experience when I recall my high school years at Fenwick. This means that I take what I have learned here and refer to it later, to make each moment in life fuller than the last. I would like to thank all those who helped to make this yearbook one that everybody will enjoy. A special thanks to my production staff and Cloire Doyle, who probably saw me at my worst and at my best, and remained my friend in spite of her better judgment.

Closing

The characteristics that make Fenwick a masterpiece: excellence, timelessness, tradition and diversity cannot fully be captured in a photo or a paragraph. Rather, a camera and a pen can only record the products of these great gifts with which we have been blessed. A picture can only provide us with a reflection of our feelings as seen in our dancing eyes, smiling faces and joined hands. The captions and the articles similarly are only observations of what we have experienced first hand. It follows that the purpose of A Classic is not to replace or brighten the events that actually occurred, but it is only our best effort to capture those abstract qualities that make us special. In the years to come our detailed remembrances included in this book will fade into hazy memories, but that unifying spirit we fostered and grew to love will forever be cherished in our hearts.

Laurie Demit

Michelle La Croix — Photography

I wish that I could truly share the value of my experience this year as photography editor of A Classic. It has been the summit of my journey here at Fenwick, one which has been finally completed, though it was filled with many challenges and growing pains. The yearbook has allowed me the freedom to experiment with my photography and for that I am very grateful. And so I complete this yearbook with no regrets, only memories. I would do it over again if I had the chance, but I would have only asked for a little more time.

Toni Leo — Layout

I would like to thank everyone who gave of their time, hard work, and patience to make the idea of this yearbook a reality. In particular, I would especially like to thank Mrs. Helen Leo, my Mom, whose countless nights at the drawing board resulted in a timeless cover masterpiece, and Mrs. Cynthia Marshall who pulled it all together with calligraphy. Thanks also to my family who understood that a 'classic' takes time — especially late school afternoons and even late weekend nights.

All who have worked on this book have dared to leave behind a part of themselves. This is the best gift we can give to each other, since it comes from the heart. Treasure this, and it will be a memory with the power to last forever.

Mathew Faino — Business

The making of the 1985 yearbook was a testing, tedious, time-consuming project; however, I am thankful to have had the opportunity to help create a memory that will live on long after we close our lockers for the final time. In remembering your encounter with Fenwick, think of the countless number of good times we had together. Remember the energy and excitement with which we attacked each new week and especially weekends, thus filling them with unique adventures and experiences. In the future, please say what you think and do what you say so as to have no regrets. Remember THE party and all the rest too. I love you, good luck.

Laurie Demit — Literary

Working on the yearbook has given me the chance not only to improve upon and practice my writing but also to try out my leadership and communication skills. The latter proved to be difficult, but the dedication and patience of the advisors, co-editors, my staff, and my family and friends helped me to learn and grow from my experiences. Re-capturing in the yearbook our years here at Fenwick allowed me to realize how precious and timeless the moments we shared together were. I will forever treasure A Classic and the people who created it: the yearbook staff and you, the senior class of 1985. Thank you for being the special people that you are. I wish you peace, happiness, and success. You deserve it.
